

POP – Puppet Protocol for Neurodivergent Development

Nnedwo , GINI POPPIN ?

Non-invasive, seamlessly integrated BCI with Plasma Coherence for neurodivergent R&D

Overview

POP (Puppet Protocol) is a human-centered system designed to help neurodivergent children express themselves, anchor identity development, and rebuild personal agency in the wake of societal, health, and social care collapse.

This is not charity. This is a framework for healing a generation left behind, particularly Generation Z, when conventional health and social systems fail. Using the Tibloy model, POP provides midline and endline resolution for real-world systemic challenges, allowing children to stabilize, express, and develop through guided interactions.

The core innovation of POP lies in its 95..5 Aura plasma coherence system, built on the OBINexus methodology. By leveraging plasma coherence, POP creates a silent-fail, stable interface that allows children to interact with systems safely, intuitively, and meaningfully.

Key Features

- Personalized Puppet Anchors – Puppets reflect the child's identity, preferences, and emotional state.

- Guided Interaction – Adult/observer guidance ensures developmental appropriateness and structured growth.
 - Plasma Coherence System – Provides real-time silent-safe stabilization for interactions and learning, including fail-safe escalation protocols:
 - Ages 1–5: Low → Med-High (Warnings and Fault Tolerance)
 - Ages 6–11: Low → High (Panic-safe escalation with dual exposure mitigation)
 - Ages 12–18: Critical (Silent-safe failure handling for complex developmental interaction)
 - Neurodivergent-Centered Design – All UI, motion data, and sensory feedback respect cognitive load, accessibility, and dignity.
 - Human-Centered Healing – Encourages self-expression, identity anchoring, and coping strategies for children navigating systemic gaps.

How It Works

1. Anchor Identity – Children receive a personalized puppet that represents their unique identity.
 2. Observe and Guide – An adult or trained observer helps the child interact, ensuring healthy social and cognitive engagement.
 3. Plasma Coherence Integration – The BCI system monitors interactions in real time and stabilizes them using plasma coherence principles.
 4. Iterative Learning – The child's developmental path is recorded, analyzed, and adapted to encourage positive outcomes while preventing harmful overstimulation.
 5. Scalable for Communities – Trained children can teach others using the POP methodology, propagating healing and resilience.

Real-World Application

POP is built to function when health and social systems collapse:

- Provides structured, developmental support where bureaucracy fails.
 - Offers identity anchoring, emotional regulation, and neurodivergent-safe interfaces.
 - Empowers children to grow autonomously, forming the basis of a self-sustaining neurodivergent society.
 - Acts as a constitutional plasma-coherence system that children can rely on for safe, repeatable learning outcomes.
